

Supporting owners of SI and VC plated Vehicles

A MAJORITY LIBERAL GOVERNMENT WILL:

- Double the number of allowable days for SI-Plated Special Interest vehicles to be used per annum from 52 to 104.
- Remove the cost of Motor Tax from Special Interest registered vehicles.
- Provide VC-Plated veteran and vintage vehicles with an extra 30 days per annum not specific to Club events.

Protecting the Tasmanian way of life

Supporting owners of Special Interest Vehicles

Under a majority Hodgman Liberal Government we have worked hard to deliver a strong economy and provide long-term sustainable jobs for all Tasmanians, which is driving confidence right across the State.

We are committed to ensuring that Tasmania is one of the most affordable places in the country to live, work and raise a family.

Importantly, we want to ensure that all Tasmanians are able to enjoy a range of recreational sports and their favourite hobbies, including the preservation, restoration and enjoyment of older, classic and vintage vehicles.

Tasmanian features an extraordinary array of highly specialised and valuable historic motor vehicles and owners of these vehicles have invested very substantial amounts of their own personal funds into the rebuilding and continued maintenance of these heritage assets.

A re-elected majority Hodgman Liberal Government will provide vehicle collectors and enthusiasts with better usage and an updated registration system for Special Interest vehicles and Veteran and Vintage vehicles.

Double the number of days for special interest vehicles to be used per annum from 52 to 104.

Currently there are more than 6000 Tasmanians who have prized possession vehicles older than 30 years of age and who currently hold a conditional vehicle registration in the form of Special Interest plates.

Special Interest plates allow them to drive their collectable cars or motor bikes on the road on a limited day use basis with the payment of a lower rate of motor tax and third party insurance than other fully registered vehicles.

Compared to others states, Tasmanians pay more to be able to use these collectable vehicles on public roads for fewer days of the year.

A re-elected majority Hodgman Liberal Government will double the amount of days special interest registered vehicles are allowed to be used on Tasmanian roads, providing vehicle usage for 104 days per year.

Relevant Targets

#20: Keep cost of living increases for Government services, on average, at or below the rate of inflation for the next four years of Government.

Protecting the Tasmanian way of life

Remove the cost of Motor Tax from Special Interest Registered Vehicles.

Currently there are two different types of registration systems in Tasmania for classic vehicles over the age of 30, including Club Event vehicles, also known as Vintage Vehicles and Special Interest Vehicles.

Currently Club Event vehicles are not required to pay motor tax while special interest vehicles pay 50% of the normal fee for motor tax.

A re-elected majority Hodgman Liberal Government will remove the cost of motor tax from all special interest registered vehicles – meaning an average minimum saving of around $64.50 per registered vehicle.

With a large number of Tasmanians owning several special interest vehicles, this will provide a considerable saving for them on registration fees removing the tax from this hobby.

Provide owners of VC-Plated veteran and vintage vehicles with an extra 30 road days per annum not specific to Club Events.

VC plated registration is only provided to those people who hold current membership with an authorised vintage or street rod car club.

That means vehicle usage is totally restricted to those participating in rallies, trials or events that are conducted by an authorised car club, or for travelling to and from a place or repairs.

We believe it's important that owners of these classic vehicles also have an opportunity to enjoy their vehicles in the same way as owners of special interest vehicles.

The State of Tasmania and its visitors can only be charmed by seeing more of these classic vehicles on our roads.

A re-elected majority Hodgman Liberal Government will provide Club Event/Vintage vehicles with an extra 30 days per annum to enjoy the use of their restored vehicles in whatever way they choose to do so.

Our Record in Government

The Hodgman Liberal Government has recognised that the cost of living is a real issue for Tasmanians.

In our first term of Government we have taken action to keep the cost of everyday prices low, including reducing the cost of car registration by 7.5% and further freezing registration premiums.

We now have the lowest vehicle registration in Australia.

We have also reduced power prices by 2.4% and have returned windfall profits from our energy companies to Tasmanians through our Tasmanians First Energy policy – giving a $125 bonus back to senior Tasmanians.
